

REACH is pleased to present:

Advanced Equine Massage

with Sharon McMaster of McMaster Equine Massage on April 17 & 18, 2010

169 Beech Street, Clinton Ontario

This is the second equine massage clinic designed for horse owners. This clinic continues where the first clinic ended. The introductory clinic is a prerequisite. This is also a 2-day weekend clinic, continuing with the Swedish massage techniques and covering all the stimulating manipulations. Both pre-event massage and post-event massage will also be presented, as will the problem areas typically present on horses.

All course materials are provided with the exception for the anatomy text. The students are expected to bring the same anatomy text used in the Introductory Clinic,

You will need to bring your book 'Horse Anatomy - A Colouring Atlas' by Thomas Kainer
Comfortable, loose clothing and sturdy footwear must be worn for this clinic.
For the safety of all participants and horses, only REACH horses will be used.
Participants will not be permitted to bring their own horses to this clinic.

Hands-on sessions will be held in the heated REACH Teaching Barn.
Classroom sessions will be held in the REACH Education Centre

Cost: $200 plus GST, which includes 2 days of instruction, course handouts, breaks and lunches.
The Colouring Atlas is not included in the fee.

Sharon McMaster established McMaster Massage in 2000. Having been passionate about horses all her life, Sharon was drawn into the field of equine massage through her experiences working with off-track thoroughbreds. She is a graduate of a 2 year equine massage therapy diploma program and has also achieved an Honours Degree in Biological Sciences.

Recently relocated to Kitchener, Sharon is establishing working relationships with many wonderful horses and their owners in the surrounding regions. Sharon takes great pride in the quality of her work and enjoys assisting horse and rider partnerships as they strive to achieve success in ever increasing levels of performance.

McMaster Massage works with horses from all walks of life. Clientele include thoroughbred as well as standardbred race horses, and horses from various disciplines such as dressage, hunter-jumper, driving, eventing, reining, and pleasure riding.”
